

Wave'ing Goodbye To Cancer

In 1981, a group of citizens in Waynesboro, PA got together to raise money for the American Cancer Society. They enlisted friends and family to canvas area neighborhoods door-to-door to solicit money and raised almost $1,800 in that inaugural year.

Then in 1982, an auction committee was formed with local business owners and community members to organize an auction event to draw together many people who wanted to help the American Cancer Society – Franklin Unit in Chambersburg, PA by bidding on numerous items. This first auction was a black-tie affair that lasted until the wee hours of the morning!

Over the last 37 years, the event morphed from “Gala Cancer Auction” to “Waynesboro Area Gala Cancer Auction” and raised over $2.2 million to help neighboring cancer patients in Franklin County to navigate through services available to them and their families in the course of treatment. Support is provided in areas such as patient transportation, overnight stays during treatment, and financial assistance for medical insurance copays, nutritional supplements, utility bills, etc.

Every year since 1985, we’ve come up with ideas for different themes. This year we “surfed” through quite a few suggestions before deciding on “Wave-ing’ Goodbye to Cancer.”

Two definitions come to mind when “waving goodbye.” First is a verb meaning “to motion farewell to something.” Wouldn’t we all love to raise a hand to “wave” cancer goodbye? Second is a noun meaning “a swelling motion that rises and falls away, as in the ocean tides.” The sea may be quite calm, but the waves are like the sudden obstacles life throws our way. Though the waves may threaten at first, they revitalize the beach as the water washes the old sand away and allows the new sand to appear. If only we could put cancer on a “wave” and send it out to sea forever.

An end to cancer is something we all hope to see in our lifetimes. We appreciate and thank everyone for their tremendous support over the past 37 years as we continue our mission.
